

Technical support for StipSYS: stipsys-support@fim.uni-passau.de

Content enquiries: philipp.dengel@baychina.de / sabine.suenkel@baychina.de

1. How to create a StipSYS account

It is recommended that you create a StipSYS account before creating an application, as this simplifies the process. To do this, please go to <https://stipsys.uni-passau.de/public/register.xhtml> to register.

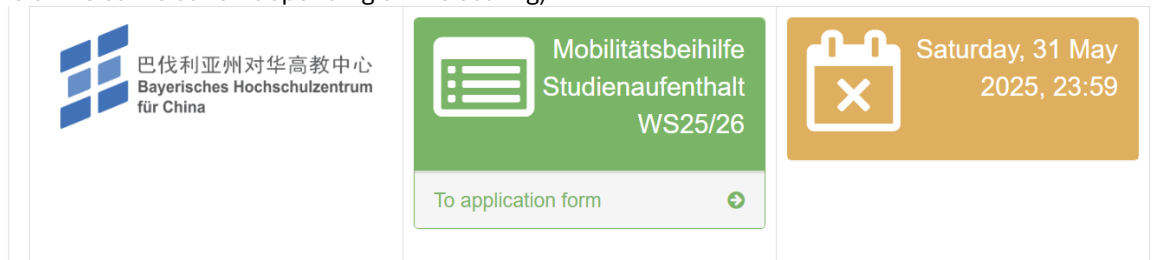

Important: Please do not forget to click on the activation link, otherwise subsequent applications will remain invalid.

2. Log in to StipSYS

Afterwards, please do not forget to log in to StipSYS. There is no automatic login. will take place.

3. Select BayCHINA call for applications

In the overview of calls for proposals, please click on the desired call for proposals of BayCHINA (the full name of the call is cut off depending on the scaling).

4. Fill out the application

You should now be able to see and complete the application.

5. Data protection

In the next step, please read and accept the privacy policy.

6. Check details and submit application

Please check all the details and submit the application. Important: the button for submitting your application is at the very end. No documents must/should be uploaded to StipSys uploaded.

7. Download & print the completed application form

In the 'My applications' menu, to which you have been redirected, please select your application and click on 'Open'. Then click on 'Open' in the 'Application' module. Here now please download the application via the download button at the top right (Word data format). Sign the application and send it together with the required attachments within the application deadline to BayCHINA by e-mail to:

foerderung@baychina.de